Speaking engagement at PSRI, Tuesday, April 8, 2014, at 7:30PM

Workshop: April 18 & 19, 2014, Plymouth, MA

Lance is well known to PSRI having given a presentation and a workshop in Providence about two years ago, and responsible for many lost hours of sleep for several PSRI members. Lance has studied in San Francisco and Baltimore. Since 1997, Lance has been teaching and leading workshops and classes on Night Photography and Light Painting and teaches at the New England School of Photography. In 2010, Lance's first book, Night Photography- Finding Your Way In The Dark was published and quickly became a leading technical source and inspiration for those interested in that subject.

WHAT TO EXPECT AT THIS WORKSHOP:

- Receiving a complete technical foundation in nighttime photography.
- Learning light painting.
- A workshop limited only to 10 participants enabling Lance to be able to devote more time to each.
- An opportunity to photograph the beautiful Plymouth bay area and fishing docks at night under Lance's tutelage and availability to solve unique technical problems as they arise.

Friday April 18, 2014, 3:00 PM: participants will meet at Karl Zuarte's Plymouth, MA home (condo #3, 12 Carver St., Plymouth, MA for orientation, instruction and then photography.

Saturday, April 19, 2014,

- late morning - early afternoon: some critique and additional instruction.
- 3:00 PM: final orientation, instruction and photography.

FEE: $125.00. Does not include room and board for those considering staying overnight. Participants may pay by check payable to PSRI or through PayPal to treasurer@psri.us. You may advise of interest at same email address or at lawsonlaw@cox.net.
